LOCAL TRACKMEN IN PURPLE MEET

Chalk and Hippler Compete in Events, Former Winning Two Places.

IS SECOND IN THE MILE RUN

Also Fourth in the 880-Yard Run and Is One of the Stars Among 200 Athletes.

Earl Chalk of the Rock Island high school won second place in the fifth annual indoor interscholastic meet of Northwestern university at Chicago last evening. He took second in the mile run and fourth in the 880 yard run. Claude Hippler, former Geneseo high school athlete, who was Chalk's team mate, failed to land a place. Hippler was selected by Coach Cornwell in place of Claude Kipp, who it had been expected would be chosen.

Over 200 athletes engaged in the preliminary trials at Chicago. Qualifying heats were held in all the events except the two mile run. In the running events the competition was reduced to eight men, while in the field events in which "limits of ability" were set the number varied.

The highest number to qualify was in the broad jump, in which fourteen athletes bettered the seventeen foot limit set by Omer. Several of the heralded stars from distant high schools came up to expectations.

Sam Butler, a dusky "phenom" from Hutchinson, Kas., took the white army by storm. He placed in the quarter mile, the high hurdles, the sixty yard dash, the shotput, and the running broad jump.

Chalk Rated as Star.

Chalk of Rock Island, Pearson and Azline of Pratt county, Kas., Smart, Lay, and Sweet of La Grange were other athletes from outside of Chicago to show well.

The finale in the swimming events will be held this afternoon. The track events will begin at 8 o'clock in the case of the Northwestern gymnasium.

BROWNS AND CARDS OPEN SERIES TODAY

St. Louis, Mo., March 28.—The 1914 baseball season will open today with the initial game of the spring series between the local National and American league teams. The opening games, though originally scheduled for the National league park, will be played on the American league grounds because they are in better condition.

The National league diamond, torn up by the winter soccer series, has been resodded, but the new earth has not yet become firm.

IN MAJOR LEAGUE TRAINING CAMPS

Los Angeles, Calif., March 28.—The Sox regulars took a licking at the hands of Venice, yesterday, 5 to 1, because the Tigers hit in better luck and ran bases with greater caution.

The scrap took place in the same threatening weather that has prevailed all the week, keeping the attendance down to a minimum. In fact, a "high fog" drove some of the box seat occupants to cover in the middle innings. The Callahan tribe, however, got some excellent practice out of the affair, and that is what it is here for.

The regular lineup was somewhat shot to pieces by Thursday's injury to Ray Schalk, who had to stay in citizen's clothes on account of the cut in the knee given him by Walter Carlisle. Nothing serious is expected to develop from the injury, but Schalk's leg was pretty stiff today more than a scratch and on the fleshy part of the leg, so that no muscles were involved. Trainer Buckner took Schalk in charge immediately to avoid any chance of infection, and a few days at the most are expected to be the limit of the catcher's incapacitation.

San Francisco, Calif., March 28.—San Francisco got the break in luck and beat the Sox 11 yesterday afternoon, 3 to 2. The luck was a questionable triple in the eighth inning, resulting in two runs and the verdict. Pitcher Rogge should have won. He was a bit wild, handing out the first run, but the locals could not hit him safely with men on bases.

Fournier has changed his style of batting, hitting with his wrists instead of the old swing. The result was two hits, one a crashing homer over the right field wall.

Coach Gleason put Blackburne back at second, where he is trying hard to make a regular place for himself. Berger took care of short, where he displayed a lot of class. The battle was cleanly played.

Jackson, Miss., March 28.—The Detroit Americans defeated the New Orleans Southern league team here 3 to 0. The Mississippi legislature recessed and attended the game in a body. The batteries were: Walker, Styles and Adams and Banville for Detroit, and Mains, Williams and Baker for New Orleans.

Louisville, Ky., March 28.—Louisville is proving an inhospitable host to Chicago's Cubs. On the day of their arrival rain prevented any activity. The contest of Thursday was played under threatening clouds on a heavy field, and yesterday the rain resumed operations with such insist-

If All the Diamond Stars Had Brothers!

Ever and anon a brother of a major league star is given a tryout in the big show. Managers always fall for them and tote them south in the hope that baseball ability runs in the family blood. And just as often the managers are bitterly disappointed. With the one exception of the well-known Deleahanty brothers there have never been two from the same street number to grace the big league parks.

It would seem that a record of this sort should discourage the managers and upon the appearance of a fraternal relative of some player of repute they would make hasty preparations to kick him far into the offing. But they don't. They cling tightly to the hope that here might be another such refulgent mirror of the horsehide diversion as the recruit's wife-ence that a contest this week is doubtful unless the local ball yard has unusual capacity for absorbing moisture.

Shreveport, La., March 28.—Much batting, sprinting and perspiring featured the work of the Chicago "Feds" yesterday. The batting and perspiring were old "stuff" but the sprinting was one of the new features of training started by Manager-Tinker. Joe discovered he had some speedy fellows on the club and he also learned that there are a few of them who can't run worth shucks.

It was a hot day, splendid for all sorts of athletic endeavor. The heavy rain had left the diamond too sticky to work on but there was plenty of room on the grass at one side for the batting, sprinting and perspiring.

Mrs. Margaret Patterson died at her home in Aledo Monday afternoon, March 16, aged 84 years. Margaret Blayney was born in West Virginia, February 12, 1830, at the age of four years she removed with her parents to Washington county, Penn., where she grew to womanhood. On April 19, 1849, she was married to Aaron Patterson. To this union eight children were given of whom seven are living. Those who survive are as follows: Mrs. Elizabeth Maxwell, and they keep him around till he proves beyond question that one player in the family is enough. Whereupon the manager takes the young man aside and explains to him kindly that if there is any family resemblance at all he must take after his grandmother from the manner in which he runs bases.

The brothers played together on the corner lot in other days. At that time there might not have been the channel between their abilities that cher is today. But it's a pretty safe bet that the one who turned out to be a big league star played more earnestly and with a greater determination to excel than did his brother. Well, maybe he didn't, but our idea was good, anyway.

The cream and flower of baseball talent doesn't seem to come in large cans or bunches. It isn't likely that a young man finding his brother's fame spread throughout the land acquires the idea that he can follow those footsteps, little thinking what a whale of an undertaking he has to negotiate. Ty Cobb's brother, Paul, was given a tryout by Washington three years ago and shortly after dispatched to the sticks, never to return. The same might be said of Hank Mathewson, brother of the illustrious Christy. Hank aspired to play in the Giant outfield several seasons ago, but he was given the thumbs-down. So also with brothers of Ed Walsh and Johnny Evers and others that might be put in print. The Cleveland Naps are trying out Dave Gregg, a younger brother of the keen and crafty Vean. Thus far he has looked none to speedy. And so it goes.

Keithsburg, Ill.; Henry B. Medford, Oregon; Mrs. Hannah Greer, Sac City, Iowa; Mrs. Clara Dool, Winfield, Iowa; Miss Haddie Patterson, Mrs. Maggie Ryner and Mrs. Blanch Wells of Aledo. In early life she united with the Presbyterian church and remained a faithful follower of Christ until her death. For a score of years following a stroke of paralysis she was a semi-invalid. But during the past seven years following another stroke her invalidism had been complete. Funeral services were held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Wells at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, March 18, conducted by Rev. A. E. Moody of Aledo, assisted by Rev. J. J. Dool of Winfield, Iowa. Interment was in the Aledo cemetery.

Site Agent A. S. McGregor, who was sent here to inspect the site for Aledo's new $65,000 federal building after looking over all the proposed sites on which the committee of the Retail Merchants association had secured options, decided the best place for the new building was on the city hall and Ella McKee properties on North College avenue, just opposite the Democrat building. The city council called a special meeting and steps were taken to arrange for the sale of the property and other matters pertaining to it. If this site proves acceptable to the treasury department it will be necessary to remove the big stand pipe and all other buildings on the property.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Haines and two children, Leona and Harry, returned to their home in Woodhull Wednesday, after making a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lundquist.

SLAYMAKER TRAINS IN THE HAY FOR BOUT

Jesse Slaymaker, the Albany, Ill., welterweight who meets Harry Bron-dell of Davenport at the Illinois theatre in Rock Island Tuesday, has a unique training camp. Jesse's quarters, where he conditions himself for his wrestling bouts, are located in a hay mow. There in the alfalfa and clover he can romp with the sturdy young grapplers of his neighborhood and fit himself for the rough grueling that he is frequently called upon to undergo during the course of a match. Slaymaker is a farmer and one of the sturdy sort. He is proud of his profession, and when he is not engaged on the mat with some opponent he is attending to the hundreds of duties that make the grauger's life one of considerable activity.

Washington—Attorney General McReynolds has received word of the conference between District Attorney Marshall of New York and representatives of the Metropolitan and other tobacco companies, which are seeking to avoid suit under the Sherman anti-trust act. Proceedings for contempt of court against four companies have been seriously contemplated.
